

Co-op members vote on which issues will be debated and when Agenda Voting Round

Using the info-pack the wider membership participates by sharing their values as they relate to the issue. Participation effort ranges from 15-90 minutes per month (optional). Survey questions, group activates etc.
Participation Phase

The policy is presented back to the membership who then vote to either accept it (along with its trade-offs and risks) or send it back to the policy team for rework
Policy Acceptance

Issue Drafting & Submission

OneAction members can submit an issue to be debated. This requires a reasonable level of research and would likely be created by a group working together to build a draft info-pack:

- Problem definition
- Gathering different viewpoints
- Gathering evidence
- Participation Questions

Issue Refinement

Members have the opportunity to work with the initial submission group to identify viewpoints and evidence that might be missing from the original submission. This collaborative process forms a significant part of the 'issue framing' and refines the info-pack and the questions which will go to the membership in the participation phase

Policy Development

A policy development team is formed to deliver a policy aimed at addressing the issue based on outcomes and values expressed by membership in the participation phase and within the bounds of the OneAction constitution.

- Expert led
- Best available evidence
- Policy monitoring/success criteria

Finally, the policy is taken to Parliament's negotiating table by OneAction MPs. OneAction MPs work for the Co-op and don't need to waste their time trying to appeal to the public with soundbites and short-term promises. They only answer to the co-op.

Beehive image credit: Elections.nz